

KOHLI FOUNDATION

CALL FOR PROPOSALS

Sociology Backstage

The Kohli Foundation promotes exchange on sociology as an organization and practice. The funding format Sociology Backstage is specifically aimed at organizers of special events that

- examine or further develop sociology as a discipline,
- strengthen its future viability and societal relevance,
- and enable constructive exchange between professional associations.

This includes, for example, events dedicated to the history of sociology or those that discuss, in general terms, the responsibility of sociology within society.

To apply, please send a brief description of the planned event – including how it aligns with the grant format (target audience, focus) – along with a rough cost estimate in a single PDF document (maximum 2 pages total) via email to the following address: info@kohlifoundation.eu.

Applications may be submitted on an ongoing basis and will be considered until the annual budget has been exhausted.

Detailed information on funding criteria, eligible costs, and formal application requirements can be found in the funding guidelines available on the foundation's website: www.kohlifoundation.eu
